Suzann's passion is helping leaders create robust cultures and guide their teams to achieve business results.

Her signature approach is compassionately blunt - a combination of direct honesty and nurturing warmth. Suzann builds relationships on a foundation of trust and professional integrity. Through her guidance, clients gain strength and confidence to develop new skills & overcome the barriers standing between themselves their goals. And she holds them accountable for their desired results.

Over the past 20 years, Suzann has successfully coached a range of leaders and teams. Her focus is working with C-Suite executives & their leadership teams. Suzann Foerster Leadership Coaching has a team of 6 coaches, serving all levels of leadership. They offer 1-1 coaching, team coaching, strategic planning and many leadership development training programs.

Suzann began her career as a corporate trainer but soon realized her entrepreneurial spirit needed an outlet. Building on her passion and desire to help others succeed she established her leadership coaching business in 1999.

She holds a Professional Coach Certification (PCC), is accredited with the International Coaches Federation (ICF), carries a bachelor's degree in business and threw in an associate's degree in Culinary Arts just for kicks. She's an instructor for Corporate Coach University, an international coach-training organization; and is a Certified Behavioral Analyst (CPBA) and a Certified Values Analyst (CPVA). Suzann is also a certified trainer and facilitator of The Change Cycle & holds a Coaching certification from Human Systems Dynamics Institute.

Be the leader others
